

Contemporary Gang Theory

Considering Definitional Issues, Cultural Components, and Impact of Trauma
When Working With
Vulnerable Youth Susceptible to Gang-Involvement

Robert Hernandez, MSW, DSW

Presented to CASA

January 24, 2020

Presentation Overview

- ◎ Activity
- ◎ Stereotypes of Gang Members
- ◎ Definition of a Gang and Cultural Framing
- ◎ Ethno-Historic Considerations
- ◎ System-Induced Traumatization
- ◎ Social Control Agents and Street Socialization
- ◎ Traumatic Experiences For Marginalized Communities
- ◎ Multi-Systemic Socio-Ecological Approach
- ◎ Community-Based Two Prong Intervention Model
- ◎ Implications for Practice
- ◎ Healing Circle Facilitation

Hopson's Racial Attitude Assessment Procedure

- ◎ Much of our thoughts and feelings about race and what racial differences mean are developed within our families and system interactions.
- ◎ We seldom have time to analyze these feelings, yet they influence the way we interact with people around us.

(Hopson, 1990)

Possible Inaccurate Assumptions

- ◎ Society as a whole, along with law enforcement may place assumptions on adolescent's ethnic identity.

- ◎ Popular media portrayal of gangs.

- ◎ Popular thinking has it that all gangs are violent.
- ◎ Misperceptions that youth are gang-involved and violent based on family or friend affiliations with a gang.

So What Is A Gang?

Definitional Problem

- ◎ “There is no single, universally accepted definition of a gang or a gang member” (Howell, 2012, pg. 53).
- ◎ Criminologists, sociologists, and other gang researchers have struggled with a definition for years.
- ◎ U.S. Department of Justice held a series of meeting between researchers, policy makers, community activists, police, and others, but to no avail.

(Curry & Decker, 1998)

Definitional Problem Consequences

- ◎ National figures from surveys tend to over-or-under-estimate the number of gangs and gang members.
 - LA TIMES ARTICLE
- Gang crime stats may be inaccurately reported.
- ◎ Comparative cross-cultural research becomes problematic without a consistent definition.
- ◎ A “gang” then is just a label, and the conventional discourse perpetuates stereotypes of inner-city youth as violent criminals to give an identity to this label.

(Rios, 2017; Klein & Maxson, 2006; Sheldon, Tracy, & Brown, 2013)

Eurogang Definition

- ◎ A gang is “any durable, street-oriented youth group whose involvement in illegal activity is part of their group identity.”

Eurogang Definition

- ◎ Durable means the group has been around for several months or more despite turnover of participants.
- ◎ Street-oriented means spending a lot of group time outside home, work and school—often on streets, in malls, parks, cars, and so on.

Eurogang Definition

- ◎ Youth refers to average ages in the teens or early twenties.
- ◎ Illegal activities generally means delinquent or criminal behavior, not just bothersome activity.
- ◎ Identity refers to the group, not individual self-image.

What's Missing from the Definition?

Definition of Culture

- ◎ Culture is the distinctive set of values, beliefs, customs, and morals that have been learned and transmitted through generations and are shared by a small or large group of people with common language and geographical proximity.

(Betancourt & Lopez, 1993)

- ◎ Culture is an organized response to human needs. Food, safety, security, love, belonging, esteem, identity, and self-actualization are shaped by culture.

(Cross, 2003)

Culture

- ◎ Is not static.
- ◎ Evolves from dynamic multi-leveled social interactions between individuals and their ecological environment.
- ◎ Acts as the lens which allows individuals and groups to ascribe meaning and interpretation to life experiences.

(Phinney, 1996)

Reactive Emergence of Subcultures & Contracultures

- ◎ Develop when cultural norms are challenged by:
 - Individuals or groups (e.g., racial tensions)
 - Environmental, social, political and/or historical differences (e.g., westernized school context, civil war refugees)
- ◎ Adaptations occur and give rise to subcultures or contracultures.

Subcultures & Contracultures

- ◎ A subculture or contraculture is a group of people with a distinct normative system of beliefs, values, attitudes, and behavioral habits that conflict with that of a larger dominant culture.

(Schaeffer, 2001; Yinger, 1960)

Emergence of “Gang” Cultural Framing

- ◎ Adolescent alienation results when family, schools, and other institutions fail to meet youth needs (Clark, 1992).
- ◎ Youth navigating “white spaces” are often punitively punished by schools, law enforcement, and others.
 - Human targets of the “youth control complex.” (Rios, 2011)
- ◎ Identification with the “gang” cultural framing provides:
 - Sense of belonging to a family type system.
 - Sense of being fully accepted and validated.
 - Sense of competency and mastery.
 - An accepted means of managing psychological distress.
 - Sense of personal cultural identity and freedom.

(Belitz & Valdez, 1997)

Statistics Support Cultural Reasons for “Gang” Involvement

PEERS CITED AS TOP REASON FOR BEGINNING GANG INVOLVEMENT

Friends are members/associates	65%
Gives sense of belonging	37%
Family are members/associates	37%
Drug dealing/making money	12%
Provides protection	11%
Provides status	11%
Forced/coerced	4%
Other	9%
TOTAL	133

NOTES: Percentages based on multiple responses. Cases with missing information not included.

SOURCE: SANDAG SAM Program, 2012

The “Gang” Culture

- ◎ Rejection of dominate culture values is evident in the:
 - Unique style of dress.
 - Slang language and hand signs.
 - Tattoos and graffiti symbols.
 - Antisocial behaviors (criminal activity and drug use).
- ◎ The gang contraculture secures prestige, financial success, and status for alienated, marginalized youth.

(Belitz & Valdez, 1997; Moore & Vigil, 1989)

The Gang Culture

- ◎ Gang values include power, respect, loyalty, attachment, commitment, protection, security, unity, and acceptance.
- ◎ These can be found in the dominant culture but gangs maintain a “surviving” frame by utilizing street-life skills to persist in a world with few resources:
 - Power is gained by amount and type of trouble one experiences.
 - Respect is earned by displaying toughness through physical strength and fighting ability.
 - Loyalty may be determined by the willingness of a member to commit a drive-by shooting.

(Hasan, 1998)

Ethno-Historical Considerations

Historical Youth Group Formation

- ◎ Youth have formed groups since onset of time, usually of their own age group.
 - 1880's gangs consisted of German, Polish, Irish, and Italian youth.
- ◎ Some of these groups committed what can be considered harmful acts and crimes.
 - Response was that these “maladjusted” deviant youth just needed proper guidance to lead healthy and successful lives.

(Sheldon, 2004)

California Penal Code 186.22

- ◎ A widely accepted legal definition of gangs was developed by the California state legislature 1988.
- ◎ A criminal street gang is:
 - Any on-going organization, association or group of three or more persons, whether formal or informal, having as one of it's primary activities the commission of crime, having a common name or common identifying sign or symbol, whose members individually or collectively engage in or have engaged in a pattern of criminal activity.

(California Street Terrorism Enforcement and Prevention Act, 1988)

Criminal Street Gang Label and Criminalization of Youth of Color

- ◎ Vague legal categorization of a gang is used to target, over-police, and prosecute communities of color.
- ◎ This criminogenic reaction grew from a “moral panic” motivated by racial and ethnic stereotypes, resulting in discriminatory policies, negative perceptions, and mass incarceration of youth of color.
- ◎ Media hyper-focus and labeling of gangs demonizes youth of color and distracts researchers from uncovering the underlying root causes of youth violence.

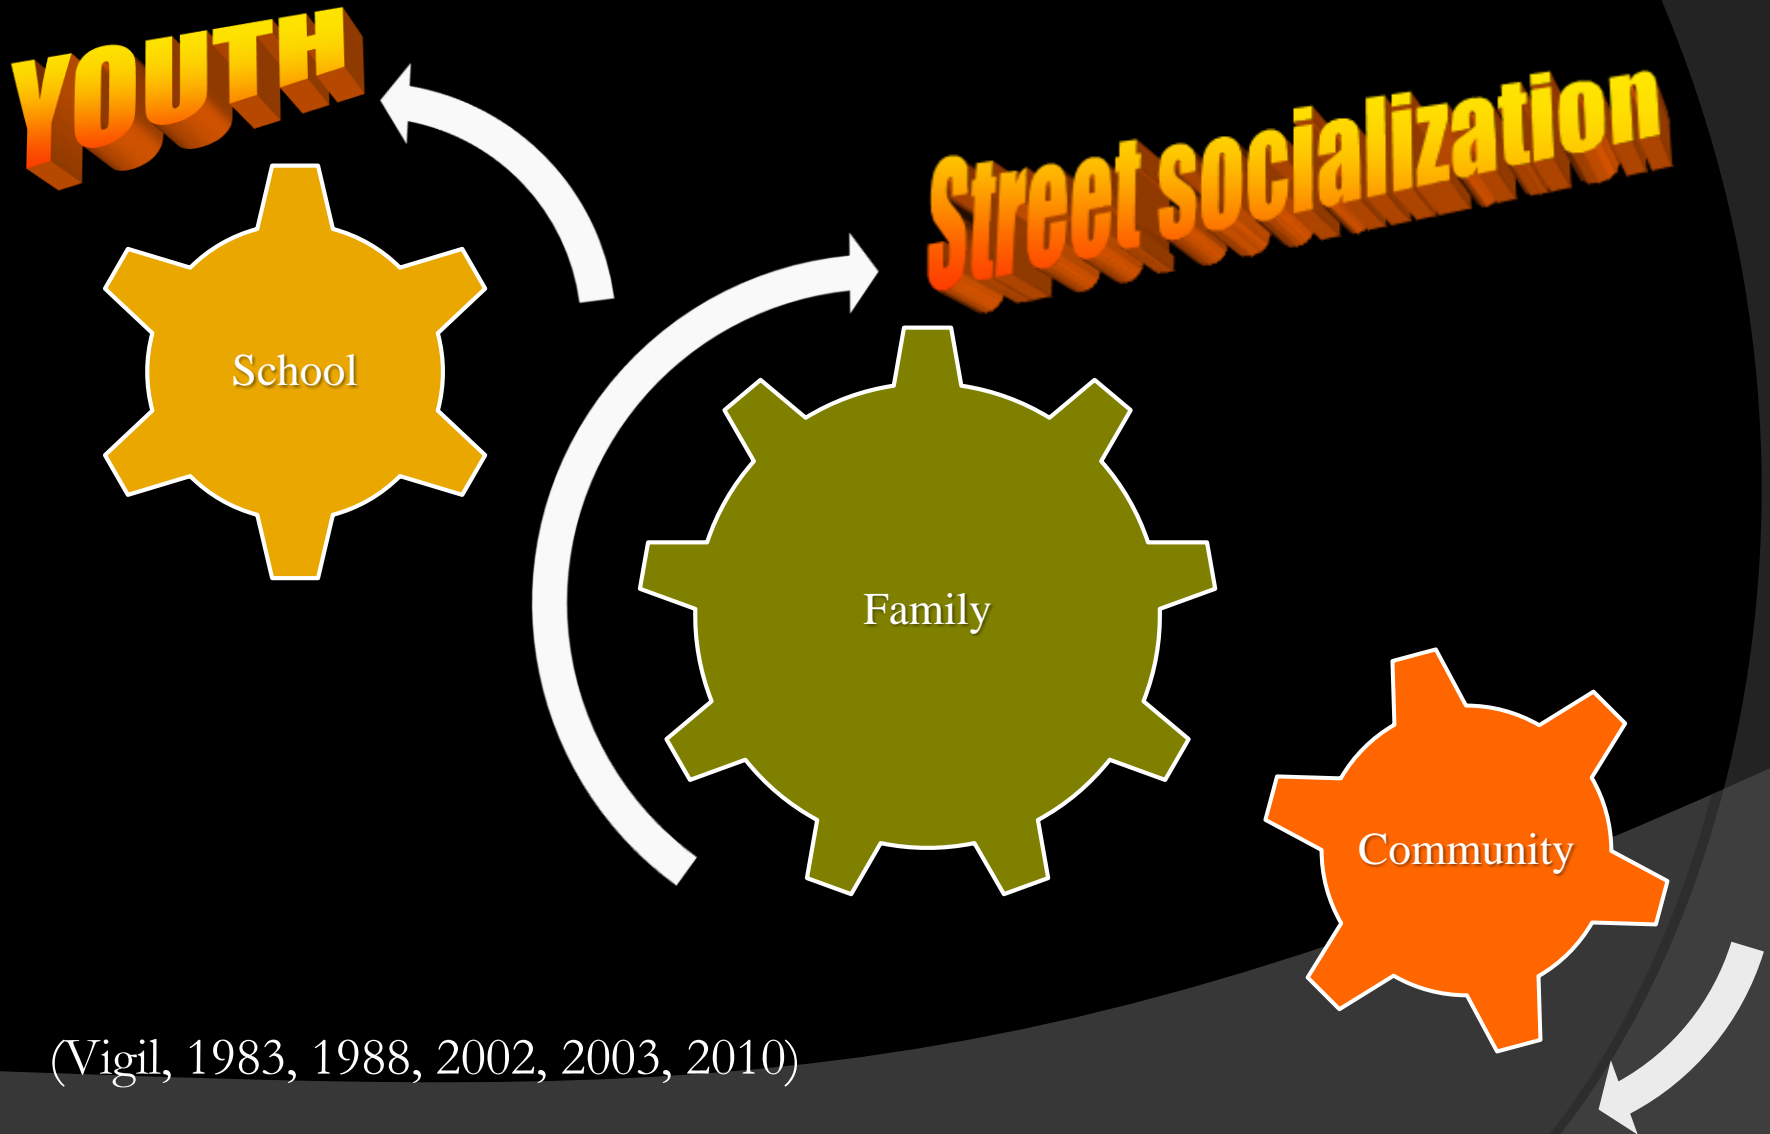

(Alexander, 2012; Klein & Maxson, 2006; Sullivan, 2005)

Example: City of Los Angeles

Fragmented Social Control Agents

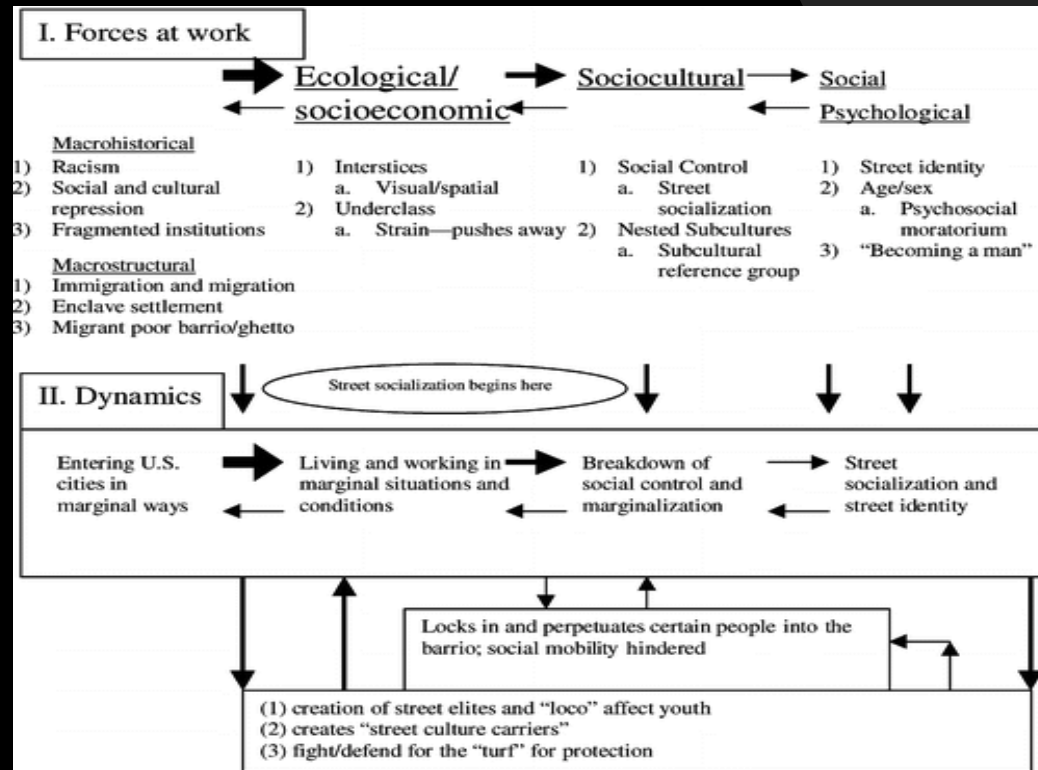

(Vigil, 1983, 1988, 2002, 2003, 2010)

Multiple Marginality

◎ Social Control Agents

- Family
- School
- Law Enforcement
- Key Factors
 - Primary agents
 - Uniquely adaptive and responsive to concerns of society.
 - Joint actions or (inactions) that exacerbate street socialization.

(Vigil, 2003)

Systemic Institutional Breakdown

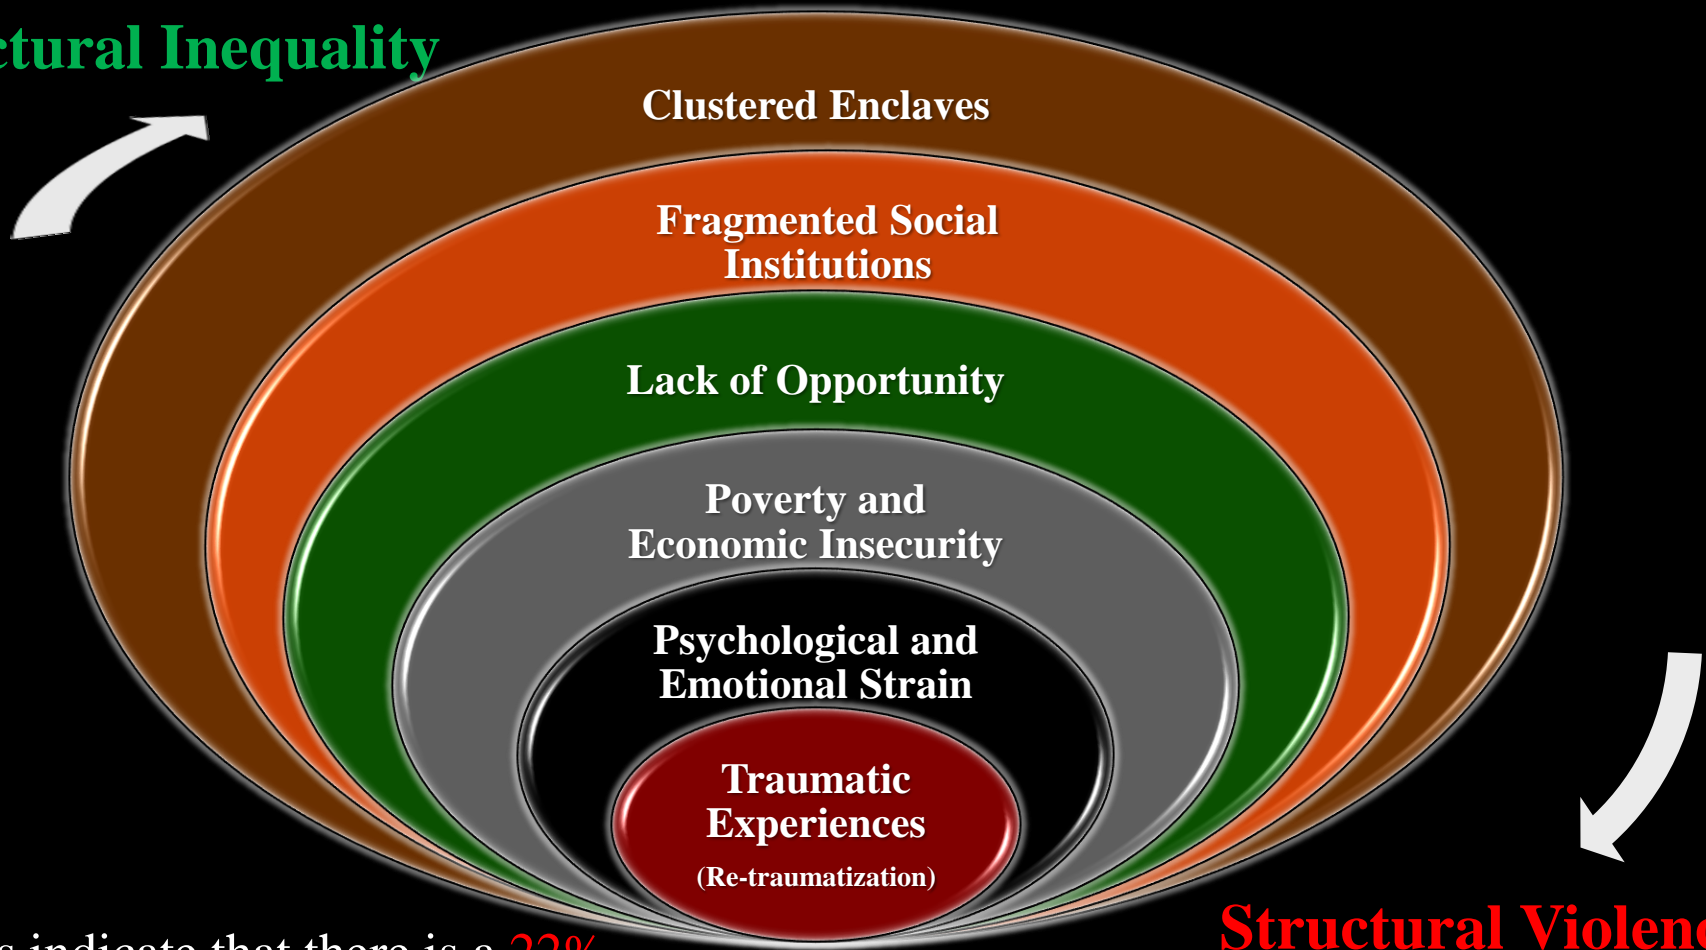

When families, schools, churches, and communities do not meet the needs of “OUR” youth, street models can become more attractive leading to social issues of delinquency, gangs, drugs, teen pregnancy, prostitution, street life, homelessness and despair.

System-Induced Traumatization

Historical and Structural Institutional Failures

Structural Inequality

Structural Violence

Studies indicate that there is a 22% increase of trauma exposure related to various types of structural violence within underserved communities

(Estrada, Hernandez, & Kim, 2016; Vigil, 1983, 1988, 2002, 2010)

What Are Potential Traumatic Experiences For Marginalized Communities?

Types of Trauma

A single traumatic event that is limited in time.

Acute Trauma

The experience of multiple traumatic events.

Chronic Trauma

Vicarious Trauma

Complex Trauma

Both exposure to chronic trauma, and the impact such exposure has on an individual.

System Induced Trauma

The traumatic removal from home, admission to a detention or residential facility or multiple placements within a short time.

A diagram illustrating the components of Complex Trauma. The central text 'Complex Trauma' is in large red font. Surrounding it are eight shapes, each containing a component name in red font. The shapes are arranged in a circle: 'Childhood Development Stressors' (white pentagon, top), 'Physical, Emotional, & Sexual Abuse' (yellow pentagon, top-right), 'Neglect & Abandonment' (white hexagon, right), 'Presence of Drugs' (yellow pentagon, bottom-right), 'Grief & Loss' (white pentagon, bottom), 'Psychological Stress' (yellow pentagon, bottom-left), 'Community, Family, & School Violence' (white hexagon, left), and 'Poverty' (yellow pentagon, top-left).

Childhood Development
Stressors

Poverty

Physical, Emotional,
& Sexual Abuse

Community, Family, & School Violence

Neglect & Abandonment

Complex Trauma

Psychological Stress

Presence of Drugs

Grief & Loss

Traumatic Cycle of Violence

It Takes A Village To Break The Cycle!

Community Intervention Worker (CIW)

“Community Mentors”

License To Operate

- Credibility
- Interface with violence
- Engage with the community at multiple levels

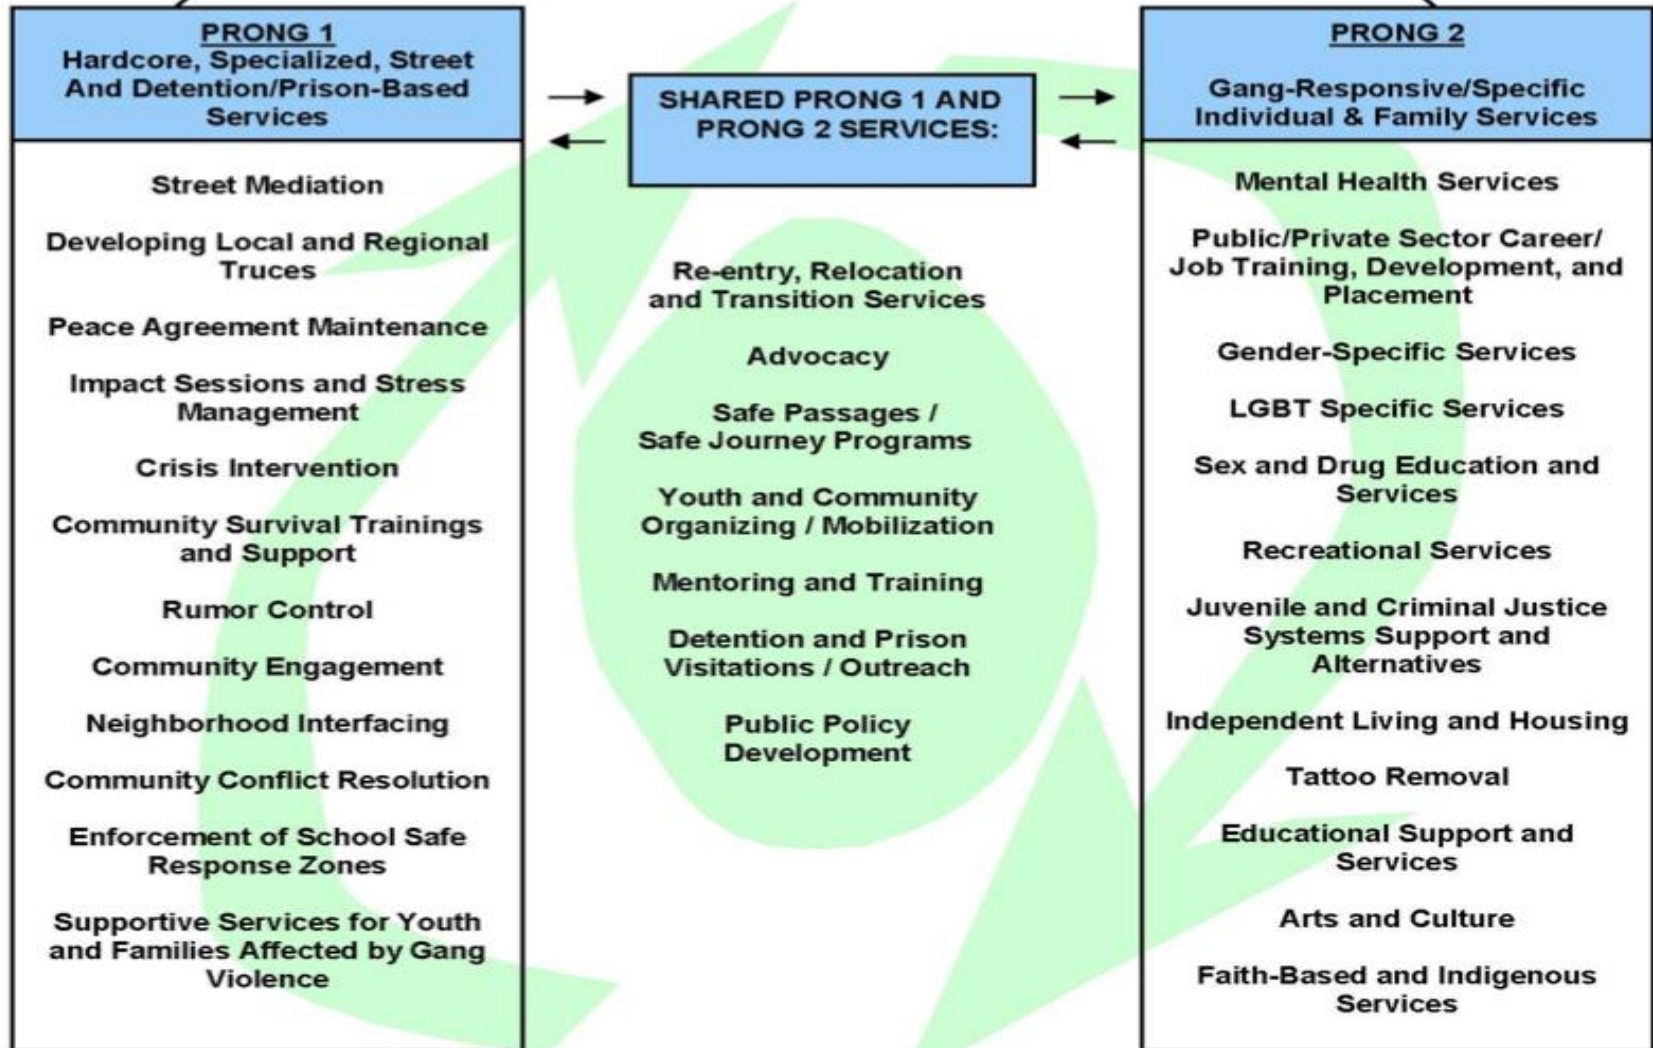

Referent
Power

- Power of identity and lived experiences
- Cultural proficiency
- Gender specific/role models

RELATIONSHIPS
(ACCESS)

- Trust & rapport (faster & stronger)
- Liaison for all levels of treatment
- Reduction in “us versus them” stigma

Community-Based Gang Intervention's
Two-Prong Approach (Integrated Community)

Implications for Practice

- ◎ The most vital component is developing strong rapport and creating a safe environment of compassion, kinship, and trust.
- ◎ Be genuine, respectful, and strength-based.
- ◎ Start with an ecological perspective to get an understanding the historical, social, and ethnic identity dilemmas experienced by marginalized youth.
- ◎ Be culturally proficient and address root causes and needs not being fulfilled by fragmented social institutions.
- ◎ Focus on healing and learning about the person rather than controlling or modifying behaviors which will encounter resistance.
- ◎ Engage youth to become actively involved in their community with the help of Community Mentors.

Implications for Practice

- ◎ “Positive progress will reveal itself through evidence of authentic moments of kinship and compassion. The previously demonized gang member becomes humanized, victims transform into survivors, and hopelessness finds avenues of hope in a life that was once drowned by marginalized inequalities and traumas.”

(Estrada, Hernandez, & Kim, 2016)

Dialogue & Questions?

Community Safety Conference
2020

Contact Information

Robert A. Hernandez, MSW, DSW

USC Suzanne Dworak-Peck

School of Social Work

roberthe@usc.edu

Co-Author:

Joey Nuñez Estrada Jr., Ph.D.

San Diego State University

Department of Counseling & School Psychology

jestrada@mail.sdsu.edu